The chairman of the entertainment committee of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce has asked that everyone from here, who is planning to attend the fair on that day, to call the commerce rooms. Those who are going in cars and have room to take one or two others, are asked to call the commerce rooms, so transportation may be provided them. But No One Was Injured When Ford
Ran Into Dodge, Driven by Mrs. Grace Bean

A Dodge car, driven by Mrs. Grace Bean of the County Health Department, was badly damaged about two miles west of Bolckow yesterday afternoon.

About 5:30 o'clock, Mrs. Bean, accompanied by another person, was driving west of Bolckow trying to locate the Savannah-Maryville road. A Ford, coming from the south on the St. Joseph road, at a speed of about thirty miles an hour, ran into the Dodge, demolishing the left front wheel, bending the radiator and fender and breaking the fan belt. No one was injured in the accident.

The Ford was not damaged.

The letter further stated that the picture will be ready for presentation some time after the first of the year.

STATE HAS DUTY TO TEACH MORALS

SAYS THE REV. R. E. SNODGRASS
IN SERMON LAST NIGHT

TEACHER HAS DUTY TOO

Must Interpret Examples Taught in Text Books by Her Own Life—
Bible Deserves Place

"I question the right of any state to take our youth to the penitentiary that has not done its best to teach our boys and girls what is right and what is wrong," asserted the Rev. R. E. Snodgrass in his sermon on, "What's the matter with our schools?" at the Christian Church last night.

"A Godless school will make a Godless nation," he continued, "and what is put in the nation must be put in the schools. It is no compliment to a state that takes the Bible out of our schools and places it in our penitentiary. In every cell of our penitentiary is to be found a copy of the Bible; yet we do not allow it in our school rooms."

That the teacher's construction of the morals taught could not be higher than her own life was the contention of the Christian Church minister, and he added that a teacher should interpret the examples taught in the text books by her own life.

The Reverend Mr. Snodgrass said that schools are institutions of the state and that they are the only method that the state has of getting its message to the boys and girls. Schools should train for citizenship, he continued, and a state or nation should look well to that.

"We should have in our schools those things that will make for true citizenship," he added. "Honesty and loyalty should be taught."

"The Bible taken out of our public schools is cause for alarm. We have not yet been able to have a clause inserted in our new constitution that would permit the Bible to be read in our school rooms. The old-fashioned text books teach the religious fundamentals, but these are lacking in our text books of today."

Before delivering the sermon on "What's the matter with our schools?" the Reverend Mr. Snodgrass sent out a number of questionnaires to representative persons.

The first question asked was, "What do you believe to be the greatest weakness in our public schools, state or national?" The following answers were given:

"The greatest weakness in our public school system today is the teachers. There is too much of a mercenary motive to teach."

"A lack of teachers who are consecrated in the work."

"A large number of transient teachers and not enough of those of mature judgment."

"There is a lack of co-operation between the home and the school."

Commenting on this last answer, the Reverend Mr. Snodgrass said, "I believe if we could solve the parent problem, we could solve the teacher problem."

Another answer was, "We are getting away from individuality in our school life. Everything goes by clock work and there is not enough of a personal touch in our school life."

The next question asked was, "What is the greatest need of the Maryville schools?"

Few answered this question. However, there was on suggestion that some sort of an assembly be held every morning in order that the pupils could get together and be taught American ideas and ideals. There was another answer that the writer said would apply to all schools in general; that there was too much interest in athletics and not enough in literary activities.

BEGAN MAIL ROUTE
ON JULY 23, 1900

BURR WILLIAMS IS OLDEST CAR-RIER IN TERM OF SERVICE.

TRAVELS 173,000 MILES

About Ten Families Living on Route
Now That Did Twenty-Three Years Ago.

Traveling a distance of nearly seven times around the world in order to distribute mail to patrons along his route has been the experience of Burr Williams, who has been carrying mail on route four out of the local postoffice, twenty-three years today.

Mr. Williams is the oldest carrier in terms of years served, at the local postoffice. It was way back in 1900, long before the days of automobiles, airplanes or radio, that Mr. Williams hitched up a horse and started out delivering mail to families on route four, south and west of Maryville. It took him seven or eight hours a day then, as old Dobbin was the safest and surest means of travel. About four years ago, Mr. Williams purchased a car and now makes the route in two or three hours.

There are 114 families on route four, receiving mail in 85 boxes. The route is a little more than twenty-four miles long.

About ten families are living on the route now that did when Mr. Williams started carrying the mail, twenty-three years ago. The amount of mail has more than trebled since he started the route. Mr. Williams said this morning. There were more families on the route then, because there were fewer routes. The boxes were not numbered; the name was put on with lead pencil or a piece of chalk and in some instances the name was not on the box at all.

Many of the little children who used to toddle out to get the mail, delivered by Mr. Williams, are now married and many of them have families. Two or three of them are living on the route at present and now their little Mary, Johnnie or Susie toddles out to get the mail from Mr. Williams, as their fathers or mothers did twenty years ago.

Many more newspapers, in proportion to the number published, are delivered now that twenty years ago. Letters have also increased in number.

Mr. Williams said this morning that the patrons should fix up the bad places in the roads, or there is a possibility that a change in the route will be recommended to the postal authorities.

Route one, out of the local postoffice, was established in May, 1899; route two in September, 1899; route three in April, 1900, route four in July, 1900, route five October 1, 1901, route six February 2, 1903, and route seven January 2, 1906.

Delivering mail for twenty-three years, bringing messages of sadness as well as messages of joy, watching babies grow and bloom into young manhood or womanhood and start the great wheel of life all over again—these are only a few of the things Mr. Williams has observed during his twenty-three years as carrier on route four.

Ford One of Leaders of the Convention

The constitutional convention at Jefferson City is expected to finish its work about the middle of August, according to present indications. Much progress is being made at present on the constitution.

The two delegates from this senatorial district, M. E. Ford and Ernest Wray of Maryville, are doing good work and are faithfully on the job all the time. Mr. Ford is one of the big men of the convention. Last Friday, he presided as chairman of the convention.

Rev. Fr. Roesler Dies in Kansas City

The Rev. Hildebrand Roesler, O. S. B., 55 years old, for the last two years pastor of the St. Joseph church at Pilot Grove, Mo., died Saturday morning at St. Margaret's hospital in Kansas City. Father Roesler was a member of Conception Abbey, Conception.

He was an artist of the Bernoulli school, a considerable portion of his work now being on Conception Abbey. Father Roesler was born in Silesia, Germany. He has been in the United States since 1894.

Mrs. Arthur Brewer and son, Arthur, Jr., went to St. Joseph Sunday.

M. E. Ford Taken for a C. O. P.
Is M. E. Ford of Maryville a Republican?

A strong chorus of "Noes" would come from his Maryville friends and acquaintances, if they were asked the question.

But Judge Dan Taylor, of St. Louis, a delegate to the Constitutional Convention at Jefferson City, thought so, although he has found out differently. After a somewhat embarrassing incident to both Ford and Judge Taylor, Ford found out that Taylor thought he was a G. O. P. and the Judge found out "Shuley" was a Democrat. This is the way the story is being told in Jefferson City.

Recently Judge Taylor gave a dinner in Jefferson City in honor of a prominent St. Louis Democrat, who was visiting there, and invited the Democratic members of the code convention. Although Taylor and Ford were very good friends, Ford failed to get an invitation while the rest of his Democratic friends did.

A day or so after the dinner, Judge Taylor went to Ford and inquired: "Honestly, are you a Democrat?"

Ford replied: "I don't know about honestly being a Democrat but I am a Democrat."

"Honestly, are you a Democrat?" Ford had taken him for a Republican.

So partisan politics evidently is not playing much part in the work at the convention.

BRITISH LABORITES WANT DISARMAMENT

BEGIN OFFENSIVE IN THE HOUSE
OF COMMONS

WANT A WORLD PARLEY

Labor Urging England to Call Disarmament Conference—Fear Reparation Crisis May Lead to War

London, July 23—Laborites in the House of Commons today began an "offensive" against the expenditures for armament. Ramsey MacDonald, parliamentary leader of the Laborites, gave notice that he would offer a resolution deploring the renewal of international competition in armament construction and calling upon Great Britain to call an international disarmament conference.

MacDonald and other Laborite leaders fear a new war will be precipitated unless armament building is curbed.

It was anticipated that Robert Cecil would reply in discussion to the debate in behalf of the government, urging adoption of his plan and calling for treaties with sufficient guarantees to avert war.

The reparation crisis, which still looms, is likely to overshadow the disarmament situation. Laborites fear that the reparation discussions may prove a contributing cause of the "next war."

Nodaway Wants Many
at the State Fair

If Nodaway County has as good an attendance at the State Fair at Sedalia, August 18 to 25 this year as it had last, it will be awarded the right to retain permanently the silver loving attendance cup that has been on display at the local Chamber of Commerce rooms for the past year. Each year the cup is awarded to the county having the largest attendance to the fair in proportion to its distance from Sedalia. If it is won by the same county in two consecutive years, that county is allowed to retain it permanently. In 1921 the cup was won by Saline County and last year by Nodaway County. The cup is donated by the Missouri Ruralist.

42 MAD CONVICTS MAKE A GET-AWAY

ESCAPE FROM ILL. HOSPITAL FOR CRIMINALLY INSANE

19 HAVE BEEN CAPTURED

One Was Shot and Killed and Two Guards Dangerously Stabbed by Madmen with Butcher Knives

Chester, Ill., July 23—Aided by bloodhounds, prison guards, deputy sheriffs, penitentiary trustees, and citizens scoured the underbrush and the countryside near today searching for the twenty-two escaped convicts from the Illinois state hospital for the criminally insane. Of the forty-two, who escaped through an aperture torn in a steel wire fence enclosing the prison yard, nineteen were recaptured. One was shot and killed and the remainder were found hiding in various places.

Authorities announced today that the ring leader in the uprising, in which two guards were critically stabbed, were caught in a nearby thicket by a trustee, who joined in the search. The man, a Chicago murderer named Mitchell, had previously attempted to lead a similar revolt against confinement, but was unsuccessful.

Ralph Hilday and James Denny, guards at the institution, are in a serious condition from knife wounds received in the attack when slashed by butcher knives used by the madmen in making their break for liberty. Superintendent O. C. Stubblefield was beaten and kicked to insensibility, but is not in a serious condition today.

Prisoners, who were rounded up late last night and this morning, were found hiding in almost unbelievable spots. One man was found in a tree-top by a woman this morning and brought down by a guard, who was in the vicinity. He said he intended to wait there until night and then escape under the cover of darkness.

Reticient on all national and political questions, Johnson, however, openly and freely avowed his intentions of carrying to the people his views about America's foreign relations and indicated strongly that he was not only opposed to Wilson's League of Nations but Harding's international court.

ST. JOSEPH PRO
MAKES 34 HERE

A NEW LOW RECORD HERE BY EDDIE MURPHY.

PLAYS A 38 AND 36

In His 34 Round One Stroke Was Added for Lost Ball—Compliments Maryville Course.

Eddie Murphy, a professional golf player at the St. Joseph County Club, established a new low score on the links of the Maryville Country Club this morning when he covered the 9-hole course in 34. This score is three below par and four better than had ever been made on the local links. The lowest previous score was made by Milton Tootle III, amateur champion of St. Joseph, when he visited here recently.

The first round on the course yesterday, Murphy played at 38 and two strokes were added for two lost balls. He made a second round yesterday in 36. This morning he made his 34 and had a stroke added this time for a lost ball.

The following is the score by holes on Murphy's game of 34: First, 4; second, 3; third, 2; fourth, 5; fifth, 3; sixth, 4; seventh, 4; eighth, 4; ninth, 5. The ball was lost on the fourth hole.

Mr. Murphy was visiting in Maryville over Sunday the guest of Harold Ryan at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Ryan. He complimented the local links, saying Maryville had a very good course but added that a player was really playing better golf on these links than his score would indicate because of bad bounces.

CALIFORNIA TOWNS FEEL EARTHQUAKES

TREMBLERS DO DAMAGE ABOUT
MIDNIGHT LAST NIGHT

BUILDINGS ARE WRECKED

Windows Smashed and Fronts Smashed—Most Damage in San Bernardino—One Hurt

San Bernardino, Calif., July 23—With San Bernardino apparently the center, a series of earth tremors were felt throughout Southern California late Sunday night and early today. Four distinct shocks were felt.

At least one man was hurt when the Hall of Records collapsed, tearing down tons of rocks.

The tremors began at 11:35 o'clock Sunday night and lasted until 12:25 o'clock this morning. The first and longest shock lasted ten seconds.

The second story of the San Bernardino Hospital was badly damaged. Plate glass windows in stores were smashed. The brick walls of the Patton state insane asylum building was reported cracked open.

Los Angeles, Calif., July 23—Two quakes were felt here at midnight last night but so far as could be learned immediately afterwards, no damage was done in or around this city. The tremors were strongest at Hollywood, the great moving picture colony, than in Los Angeles.

The first shock, which lasted about ten seconds, came at 11:30 o'clock Sunday night. Immediately afterwards were other tremors, which were lighter and of shorter duration.

The earth tremors were reported to have been felt as far north as Santa Barbara on the coast and as far south as San Diego. They extended inland at least as far as San Bernardino.

Redlands, Calif., July 23—The fire-wall of the Studebaker building was shaken loose, the fire-wall of the Wheaton building dislodged, and the front of stores caved in during an earthquake shock here last night. The Studebaker fire-wall collapsed on the roof of an adjoining furniture store.

Practically every resident was roused by the tremor.

Berkeley, Calif., July 23—The possibility that the earthquake that was felt in the southern part of the state was another disturbance from the San Andres drift, the same quake line that caused the disaster in the San Francisco quake, was voiced here today by Professor John T. Bulowda, head of the department of geology at the University of California today.

"I have not had time today to inspect the instruments at the University, but the fact that it struck Redlands, San Bernardino, and Los Angeles, indicates that it may have been from the same drift as Mojave, another point. I am informed was effected, lying right in the line of the drift."

EYE-MINDED PEOPLE

Most people of today are eye-minded people. Our grand parents were ear minded persons.

When our forefathers wished to doubt a statement they said, "it goes in one ear and comes out the other." Today you hardly ever hear this old opinion except among the elderly people. Instead we all reply—"I do not see that."

The schools are very rapid in taking up this new change. No longer is the subjects taught by tedious lectures by the professors in charge, but instead motion pictures is shown to the class with explanatory notes.

It is no longer the actor that stirs the emotion of his audience by a trembling voice or a ranted and shouted part that draws the largest salaries. It is the actor of the silver sheet that visualizes the part whose salary pay the largest income tax.

Even our jokes which use to be passed from ear to mouth are portrayed on the comic strips in our daily newspapers.

The greatest thinkers of today no longer go on lecture trips like Cane or Einstein and numerous other professors they are spreading their message by motion pictures and written articles.

The advertisements are mostly all pictures so that it will catch the attention of the eye-minded reader of today.

It has been the daily newspapers that have caused the bringing about of this change to a large extent. And the public is greatly benefited. Our education of the people is a much higher system and it is now all most a necessity for every one to know how to read and write in order to keep up with the happenings of the world.

AS TO CHURCH ADVERTISING

The wholesale business houses of Portland, Me., are engaged in a church advertising campaign, consisting of 15 full-page advertisements in a local newspaper, the first page appearing on May 12.

After calling attention to the 58 churches in Portland and inviting the reader to try them out and select the one that suits him, the first page ad says:

The churches of the United States can seat 65,000,000 people, or less than half of the total population. The motor cars of the United States can seat all of the population, can take the whole nation joy-riding at one time. This throws no special credit upon the motor car manufacturers, and no discredit upon the church. It shows that the people have been alive to the benefits of the motor car, and have demanded enough to go around; and it shows that more than 50,000,000 people in America have not yet awakened to a realization of what the church has for them.

Who comprises this 50,000,000 who never go to church? The poor? The foreign born? The sick? The unlearned? Not so much the poor and the ignorant as the people who have comfortable homes, assured incomes, motor cars and contentment. They are the folks who are missing church; and perhaps you are one of them.

What does the church hold for you? First of all, the people you will like to know—kindly, sincere, genuine people, people worth knowing. And you will hear good music; you will have an opportunity to take part in a beautiful and uplifting service; you will hear a good man talk. You will read from the greatest literature in all the world.

The effort of the Portland business men in behalf of churchgoing is commendable. But, after all, are not the churches themselves their own best advertisement? And if the 50,000,000 who never go to church are to be "sold" the churchgoing idea and made habitual, or even casual, attendants, must not the churches "sell" themselves to this huge multitude of no-churchgoers? And it won't be done by ordinary advertising. There must be service back of it—service that will be more of an attraction than the home, the parks, the country, the automobile, the movies, the ball games, and everything else that goes to make Sunday what it is to the masses outside the churches.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Legion and Red Cross are Working Together

The American Legion has invited the Red Cross to join in its campaign of Americanization, according to press dispatches given out from National Red Cross headquarters in Washington. Colonel Alvin Owsley, National Commander of the American Legion, in an address a few days ago at National Headquarters of the American Red Cross, said, "Any man who advocates destruction of our government and wishes to substitute communism, sovietism or bolshevism, to raise the red flag over the Stars and Stripes, should be deported from this country. The realization that 10,000,000 people in this country cannot read, write or speak our language, calls for action."

Col. Owsley has just completed a tour of practically the entire United States and said in his speech that this tour has convinced him that the American Legion and the Red Cross should stand together on a program that would insure against a repetition of the situation disclosed by the war draft, that is, that one out of every four men of military age was unfit for military service.

Col. Owsley is strong not only for Americanism in its best sense but for a campaign for better physical conditions and health conditions in the nation.

SWIMMING INSTRUCTIONS

What is the arm action in the breast stroke?

Answered by
BILL BACHRACH

Illinois Athletic Club; most famous and successful of all swimming coaches; has turned out champions such as Johnny Weissmuller, world's fastest swimmer; Norman Ross, Sibyl Bauer, Perry McGillivray, Harry Hebner, Arthur Raithe, Bob Skelton, and Mike McDermott.

From the position with the body lying flat on the water with arms extended forward and feet extended to the rear, the arms start a full sweep to the rear. The action of the arms is simultaneous. The palms of the hands are turned outward with thumbs down. The sweep ends when the arms are even with the shoulders. At this point the muscles are relaxed, the elbows bent and the hands brought together in front of the face. With the palms horizontal, thumbs together, they are shot forward to the extended position. The fingers are tilted upward to skim over the surface of the water. The head is held above the water at all times, the arms are kept under the water, the shoulders parallel to the water line, and the feet deep.

Sun-Baked Soils

Sun baked soil and hot weary horses have long been the bugbear of fall plowing. After a busy season the farmer finds himself and his team unfitted for this hard task which must be done on time.

But neither soil nor season affect the Fordson. Its rugged power is ever present to draw the Oliver Plow through the toughest plowing job on time and the measure of accomplishment is greater and more cheaply attained than by any other method.

No matter what the soil there is a specially built Oliver Plow that will turn it properly.

SAVING THE OLD SHINGLES

Nothing Gained by Their Removal, Is the Verdict Delivered by a Building Expert.

Home owners planning to repair or recover their shingle roofs are urged to save their old shingles, in a statement issued by J. M. Berdan, Detroit building expert.

"Of the 25,000,000 buildings in the United States," said Mr. Berdan, "not quite 5,250,000 still have wooden roofs. Of these wooden roofs, our field agents report that nearly a million are in need of repair, on account of the fact that many of these repair jobs have been long deferred. Just how the owners of these roofs go about having the work done, particularly in the midst of the greatest building boom since 1909, will depend on the expenditure or saving of a large sum of money.

"The conventional method in giving a house with shingles a new roof is to rip off the old shingles and to lay the new roof on the old furring strips. This means muzzling up lawns and shrubbery, filling the upper floors of the house with dirt and dust, and running the chance of getting caught in a sudden storm with no roof on the house. In addition, of course, is the cost of the labor for ripping the shingles off.

"These risks and expenses can be avoided by having the new roof right over the old shingles. Whatever the material of the old roof, whether asphalt or wooden shingles, the new roof will be cheaper to lay and will offer a better insulation for the house; making it cooler in summer and warmer in winter. The additional weight is easily supported, though in some cases it may be necessary to brace the rafters.

"Home owners will spare themselves trouble and money by leaving the old wooden shingles in their places."

TWO METHODS OF GARDENING

Householder With Small Plot of Ground Must Follow Intensive Plan to Get Best Results.

The intensive gardener has his soil as fertile as possible, spaces the rows closely and follows one crop by another the same year as often as possible. Onion sets are thrust into the ground wherever there is a vacant space, radishes are grown between rows of carrots and parsnips and are gone before the later crops need the space. Lettuce appears between cabbage rows and even between plants in the row, and peas and early turnips are removed in time for late snap beans.

The extensive gardener, on the other hand, to whom time and labor are more of an item than land, lays out his garden with long straight rows spaced far enough apart for horse cultivation, or at least for easy wheel-hoe work. He need not feed his soil so heavily nor does he pay so much attention to intercropping and succession crops as the man who has more time than ground.

The "Undesirable Citizen."

Of course, in all towns as well as in all cities there are men who can talk biggest when they are away from home where they are not known. Generally these are men who shirk duty and dodge responsibility, never contributing as they should to community progress. There are even those who seek to retard progress and seem to take greatest satisfaction in the failure of public effort to develop the town in the largest possible degree. These men are conspicuous but they are conspicuous in the way that citizens are who endeavor to discharge their every civic and political obligation. They are more conspicuous in small towns than they would be in great cities, for there they would go practically unnoticed. Yet conspicuousness in small towns has its compensation, for the fellow who won't go along until he is compelled to go can easily be reckoned with in one way or another.—Grit.

To Seek Rare Orchids.

In an effort to make the orchid collection of the Missouri Botanical garden one of the largest in the world, an expedition of floriculturists will go to Colombia, South America, in search to obtain additional plants, it was announced.

The varieties, cattleya trianae and cattleya schroederiae, of the mauve variety are the species especially sought, it was explained. In addition the party will search for rare species.

The quarantine against importation of foreign plants maintained by the Department of Agriculture to prevent importation of injurious insects will be lifted for the expedition, it is said.

Michigan City's Error.

The city manager of Mount Pleasant, Mich., figures that it will have cost that city $30,750 to retire its $15,000 water improvement bonds issued in 1902, owing to failure to make proper provision for retirement by serial bond or sinking-fund method.—Chicago Daily News.

In one of the best games of the season, the Elmo baseball team defeated the New Market, Iowa, team yesterday 5 to 3. Lamar, pitching for Elmo, struck out twelve men and was given excellent support by his teammates, who played errorless ball and gleaned twelve hits. Boyer, who pitched for New Market, was credited with four strike outs, but his teammates made four errors and were able to get but four hits from Lamar's offerings. The game was played at New Market.

Chile, Not Hopkins Basketball Champs

The girls' basketball team, calling themselves Chile, won the tournament championship at the College, instead of Hopkins as was stated last week in the Democrat-Forum. The final score was 22 to 17 in favor of Chile instead of Hopkins, as was told to the reporter. The girls playing on the winning team were: McMullin, Dragoo, McMasters, of Hopkins, Mackie of Rosendale, Bruckner of Gower and Baker of Hopkins.

May Get Extension of Three Mile Limit

Washington, July 23—Recent developments in European affairs have convinced administration officials that there is still a chance for the United States to get foreign governments to agree to an extension of the American 3-mile limit to twelve miles as an aid to prohibition enforcement, it was learned officially at the state department today.

A few days ago Secretary Hughes had about given up hopes of bringing about such an agreement but now he feels that his efforts may be rewarded by success.

Can You Afford to Speculate?

EVERY time you buy something you are either speculating or making a definite investment.

Few people can afford to speculate. Yet many do it continually, in making their every-day purchases. And it is so unnecessary! The advertisements make it easy for any one to avoid taking a chance.

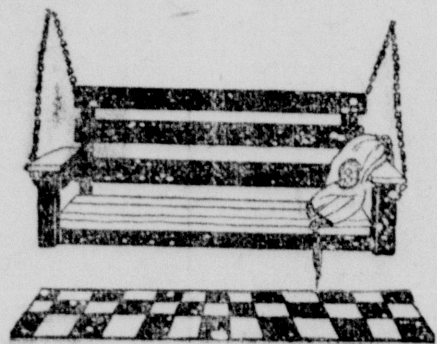

The merchant or manufacturer who advertises, realizes that the good-will of his customers means money in the bank to him. He knows that public confidence in his product and public respect for his own character are as valuable as his credit at the bank.

So he makes the individual satisfaction of his patrons, their loyalty and their friendship paramount issues in his business.

When you buy an advertised product, you can know in advance what to expect in return for your money. You can count on its being RIGHT. You are making an investment.

But when you buy nameless, unbranded merchandise, you are taking a chance. You are speculating.

Know What You Buy. The Advertisements Will Tell You.

HER CAMPAIGN A FAILURE

"Vamp" Attempt to Enmesh Wealthy Man Cost Her Much Money and Not a Little Chagrin.

There is a side to the organized ransacking of the rich in New York city that has not been told. Raymond G. Carroll writes in the Philadelphia Ledger. One of the wealthiest of the industrial captains of America was recently made the object of an open, deliberate and almost frantic attempt to enmesh him, without apparently his even knowing of the campaign when it was on, such is his complete indifference to those who crowd themselves into his environment.

It cost the vamp de luxe a tidy sum of money to finance the show which she astutely staged, but where she doubtless suffers most is from acute chagrin.

To begin with, the woman took a lease of an entire house in the immediate proximity of the multimillionaire's New York house. She strategically picked the house so that her windows looked across at windows into the rich man's library.

For days she appeared at her windows in the most alluring negligees without once getting a flash of her quarry. Her tactics changed. She had her beautiful automobile kept standing for hours at her door. Not even a noble came from that line of endeavor.

Her third and last method of attack was to dress in her smartest Paris gowns and, with her foreign dogs on leashes, encircle the chateau of the enormously wealthy man when she knew he was at home. More wasted effort. When he came out of doors and passed her he acted as if she did not exist, never once looking at the dogs nor remarking her elegant frocks.

She finally gave up the fruitless pursuit, sublet the house and has moved into a hotel where she has the competition of other dollar ghouls. She is certain that somebody put the industrial king wise as to her designs—for what woman will believe that her charms can fail?

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness during the sickness and death of our son, Harold Franklin, also for the flowers.

Boils

THERE is a reason for everything that happens. Common-sense kills misery. Common-sense also stops boils! S. S. S. is the common-sense remedy for boils, because it is built on reason. Scientific authorities admit its power! S. S. S. builds blood-power, it builds red-blood-cells. That is what makes fighting-blood. Fighting-blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights pimples! It fights skin eruptions! It always wins! Mr. V. D. Schaff, 557 15th street, Washington, D. C., writes: "I tried for years to get relief from a bad case of boils. Everything failed until I took S.S.S. I am now absolutely cured, and it was S.S.S. that did it."

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

News From Over The County

Skidmore News.

Miss Turner, with the Red Cross at Maryville, and Mrs. W. C. Pierce of Maryville, were business visitors in Skidmore yesterday.

Twenty-five members of the local Rebekah Lodge drove to Maryville Thursday night of last week and attended lodge. They put on some of the degree work while there.

The second union service held by the three churches of Skidmore was held last Sunday evening on the lawn just north of the Christian Church. Rev. Hager, pastor of the Christian church delivered the sermon and the M. E. orchestra furnished the music. A good sized audience was in attendance considering the warm evening. The churches were well represented and several cars were parked near the walk and used for seats.

Jim Robison, who has been out in Texas for his health for some time, returned to his home in Maryville last week, but we understand he is not much improved.

The barn on the Methodist parsonage lot at Bradyville burned down Tuesday forenoon. There was a team of horses belonging to Cal McGinnis, in the barn, and they were burned to death, also set of heavy harness and some hay was destroyed. The origin of the fire is unknown. There was $250 insurance on the building. The old school building, which was nearly caught fire several times, but by hard work it was kept from being seriously damaged.

STATE HAS DUTY TO TEACH MORALS

"Should there be greater co-operation between the churches and the schools?" was the next question asked.

A few persons said the churches and schools, as such, should be separated, but the influence of both should intermingle. Another person was in favor of keeping the two entirely apart. Some class where religion could be taught and credit given for the work, was another answer.

The next question asked was, "In your judgment, what place should the Bible have in our public school life?" Answers to this question were numerous and varied. "I hardly think we ought to compel, by law the Bible to be read," was one answer. "Have the Bible read without comment," was another answer. Still another person did not wish the Bible to be read at all. One person wanted the Bible to be read with some comment.

The last question asked was, "Should an active Christian profession be one of the requirements of a public school teacher, or is a good moral character enough?"

One person said, "We ought to let the young men and women know that public sentiment demands that they live a Christian life."

Another person said that an active Christian profession should be required of every school teacher.

In all the answers to this question, it was believed that the teachers should live an active Christian life even though this was not one of the requirements to enter the profession.

On next Sunday night, the series of "What's the matter?" sermons will be concluded with, "What's the matter with Maryville?" Questionnaires are being mailed out this week and the sermon next Sunday night will be an informal discussion, based on the answers received from these questionnaires.

What are the fundamentals of good putting?

Answered by
PHIL GAUDIN

Medalist, British open championship; Captain of British international golf team; member of that team for eight consecutive years. Winner of numerous foreign tournaments, including Manchester Guardian trophy.

Take a stance well over the ball. Hit it firmly so that it travels. Too many players are afraid to do more than kiss a ball with a putter and, as a result, it either rolls short of the hole or is deflected by a tiny tuft of grass or bit of dirt which would have had no effect on it, had it been given more momentum. The old rule of "never up, never in," is a good one to follow. Certainly if a ball doesn't get as far as the hole, it has no chance of getting in, whereas it does have some chance if it overshoots.

Twelve Million Motorists Warned
Aware that the summer season brings the peak of automobile travel and increased highway hazards, the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce has issued a warning to twelve million motorists:

1. The cautions total seven:
2. Would you willingly injure a child?
3. Drive reasonably.
4. Put your city on the Safety Honor Roll.
5. Remember you are at times a pedestrian.
6. "After you" is courtesy on the road, as well as in the doorway.
7. Keep the brakes in perfect condition.
8. Haste makes havoc.

A small percentage of the motoring public causes the thousands of motor accidents and fatalities which occur every season. It is the aim of the automobile world in 1923 to stimulate this havoc-making minority to eligibility in the Safe Drivers Club.—Automobile Trade Journal.

Smashing Up Discarded Vessels

This interesting photograph shows how United States ships which have been sold for junk are being smashed to smithereens in a few minutes at the yards of the Western Marine and Salvage company at Alexandria, Va. The large ball is raised to a height of 75 feet by a huge electro-magnet, and then when the current is cut off the two tons of steel drops with terrific force breaking the hulls into fragments of commercial size.

Hubby Doesn't Expect Wifie to Obey Any More

Women Never Obey Anyway, Says New York University Professor in Favoring New Ceremony.

New York, July 23.—The modern husband does not expect or want his wife to obey him and this alone is sufficient reason for striking the word "obey" from the marriage ceremony according to Dr. Herman H. Horne, professor of education and philosophy at New York University, lecturer on theology and author of many religious works.

"In addition to this fact," said Dr. Horne, "it is well understood that women, no matter how conservative, never obey their husbands in the strict sense of the word. So, from a common sense viewpoint there is no value in the word and it makes a hypocrisy of what should be a very sacred vow. It interpolates in a solemn service a promise to do something there is no honest intention of carrying out."

"A marriage contract should be founded on mutual love and the intention to love and cherish each other. On these principles a new form of service should be based which would more adequately fit present conditions, both financial and social. Women are no longer the property of their husbands and 'obey' is a relic of the period when they were actually 'given in marriage' by the head of the family, their father."

"The willingness to bear mutual responsibility for the family life is more essential today than obedience. Marriage is the association of equal and independent persons for a common purpose. And it is no longer necessary to use the old customs as defined in the wedding ceremony, for they have long since outgrown their utility. Women formerly were dependent upon their husbands for support and actual physical protection. The wife's position in the family life was subservient to that of her husband in all matters."

"There were exceptions, of course, to this rule. Women have always had the knack of getting what they wanted by the indirect method. Old Testament history gives us the example of the manner in which Sarah, the wife of Abraham, sent Hagar out into the wilderness after she had fulfilled her mission of providing Abraham with an offspring. If Abraham had exercised his undisputed right of authority, Hagar would have remained a member of his household."

"Here in the United States either the legal or religious ceremony is binding. Of the religious ceremonies the simplest form is used by the Society of Friends, in which case the two persons marry themselves before 'meeting.' The legal ceremony is equally lacking in formality and no question of obeying is implied. It is merely a contract subscribed to before a representative of the law."

"A religious service of some sort, in my opinion, is most satisfactory and most effective, so far as making such an important agreement lasting. Without a spiritual background, marriage is more likely to go on the rocks. Religion of some sort is a very necessary requisite to even the most primitive races. It marks the line of difference between us and the animal kingdom. But with this religion I insist on applying the light of modern science and social relationship to the outward and visible sign of that vital force within us," concluded Dr. Horne. "I hope to see the marriage service stripped of all its ancient and outworn phrases and made to fit the twentieth century."

Return Address in Upper Left Hand Corner

Persons who write their names and addresses on the back of letters in stead of on the front are taken to task by the postoffice department. A bulletin received at the Maryville postoffice says that not only does this practice cause unnecessary labor in the postoffice, but sometimes the letter goes to the dead letter office when it cannot be delivered.

"The proper place for the sender's return card is in the upper left hand corner of the address side of the envelope," states the postal employee. "There postal employees are accustomed to look for it. The placing of the return card on the back of envelopes not only consumes unwarranted time and labor, as the letter must be turned over in order to read the return address, but it may cause undelivered letters to be sent to the dead letter office, instead of back to the sender."

Animal Rushed the Crowd of Sharpshooters—in Spokane July 8

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Strong and son, Buster, who are traveling overland in their car to California, received a write-up in the Spokane, Wash., Spokesman-Review of their issue of July 8. The article follows:

Howard Strong of Maryville, Mo., his wife and son halted their Dodge car in the Yellowstone park and got out to take a picture of a large, young grizzly bear backed up against a tree. Another party came up and its members jumped out and leveled cameras at the bear.

"The publicity promised was too much for the modesty of brain," said Mr. Strong, "for he left the tree and rushed the crowd of sharpshooters. We gave him the road and he stopped. His pause gave every one time enough to regain his car, when we drove on. As a result of the encounter some of the women were nervous the rest of the day."

"A park guard told us we could play tricks on a black or a cinnamon bear, but not on a grizzly. He said we could lie down and hold our breath and escape the attack of a black or cinnamon, or might run along the side of a hill and get away, for bears of those breeds can run up or down a hill, but not along the side. But a grizzly can run at any angle."

Mr. Strong has a camp equipment that is independent of the accessories of tourist camps. He needs water only to make his service complete at any place on earth, he avers. The equipment includes a refrigerator that holds a bottle of milk and 45 eggs, and he stows all of it in the car except the tent.

Judge Davis in Auto Accident

Chillicothe, Mo., July 23.—Judge Arch B. Davis and Dr. W. G. Goodrich were seriously injured and Ray Basset and Harry Graham received minor injuries when the car in which they were riding turned over six miles out of Chillicothe Saturday night. Doctor Goodrich received a broken collar bone, fractured skull and injuries to the kidneys. He did not regain consciousness and is not expected to recover. Judge Davis received a crushed lung and four broken ribs.

A passing car picked up the injured men. Judge Davis was taken to his home and Doctor Goodrich to the Chillicothe hospital. Basset and Graham were taken to their homes.

The four had been visiting the Mandeville oil fields and were on their way home when spokes in the right rear wheel broke, blowing out the rear tire and throwing over the car. Davis and Goodrich were pinned under the car.

Judge Davis has been circuit judge at Chillicothe since 1908, when he was appointed to that position by Governor Hadley when the Thirty-sixth judicial circuit was created. When the new federal judgeships were recently created by congress, Judge Davis was a candidate for the appointment for a Western district of Missouri. Judge Davis has been Republican nominee for judge of the Kansas City court of appeals and three years ago made the race in the primaries for supreme judge, carrying all of the state outside of St. Louis, where his majority was overcome by Judge Blair.

Doctor Goodrich is a prominent dentist in Chillicothe and Mr. Graham is secretary of the Chillicothe Chamber of Commerce and has been active in the good roads movement.
